Customer Reviews

Elizabeth Havercroft lives in Enland.

This book is interesting and funny to my 7 year old grandson. I liked that it was multicultural and included women pirates. The book served as a springboard of ideas to enrich pirate pretend play. We used it all summer to plan adventures.

These are such cool books. I'm not sure if my kids or I like these books more! The illustrations are great and have so many fun things to find. We're planning to buy a bunch more of the A Year of_____ books. Highly recommend.

I gave this book to my 3 year old grandson. He loves it! When I visited him a few months after giving it to him his mother asked me to read his bedtime stories. He insisted on reading this book, as he has EVERY night since I gave it to him! He loves the story and looking for the items. Just loves it!

I have three boys (all 5 and under) and they love this book. They like finding the turtle, the monkey, and the clumsy pirate on all the pages. Even when my wife and I aren't around to read to them they enjoy looking at the pictures and making up their own story about what is happening.

absolutely loved it. takes us on a wonderful voyage. 5 yr old couldnt put the book down even though he couldnt read through it. he made us read it so many times..

Hours of fun with my five-year-old. We must have read it dozens of times last year, and he still gets it out to read it, look for all the funny bits in the pictures...a great entry in the 'A Year on/in...' series.

My great grandson who is 4 loves this book.
