Start Here: Doing Hard Things Right Where You Are

Synopsis

You want to do hard things. But you don't know where to start. You are changing the world around you. But you are tired and burned out. You feel called to do the extraordinary for God. But you feel stuck in the ordinary. Do Hard Things inspired thousands of young people around the world to make the most of the teen years. Now Alex and Brett Harris are back and ready to tackle the questions that Do Hard Things inspired: How do I get started? What do I do when I get discouraged? What's the best way to inspire others? Filled with stories and insights from Alex, Brett, and other real-life revolutionaries, Start Here is a powerful and practical guide to doing hard things, right where you are. Are you ready to take the next step and blast past mediocrity for the glory of God? START HERE.

Mark Batterson Reviews Start Here Mark Batterson serves as lead pastor of National Community Church in Washington, D.C. NCC was recognized as one of the Most Innovative and Most Influential Churches in America by Outreach Magazine in 2008. Mark has two master's degrees from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Chicago, Illinois. He is the author of the bestselling book, In a Pit with a Lion on a Snowy Day. His latest book is Wild Goose Chase. Read Batterson's guest review of Start Here: I owe Alex and Brett Harris a huge thank you. Why? Because my son, Parker, and I read their last book, Do Hard Things, together and it had a huge impact on us. In that book, I feel like they captured what every parents dreams for their children. We want them to make the most of their God given gifts. We want them to be sold out to Christ. And we want them to strive to make a difference and not settle for complacency. Alex and Brett did all of those things and more. Whenever I love a book, I can't wait for the author to come out with the next one. Well, the waiting is over. Alex and Brett have finally delivered the much-anticipated sequel: Start Here. Not only will this book fuel your God-given dreams, it will give you practical tips on where to start. I've found that the first step of faith is always the hardest. Part of it is uncertainty. Part of it is inertia. But this book is the antidote to both of those things. Many dreams die at the hands of "how." We don't know "how" to make it happen so we give up on what God has put in our hearts. I genuinely believe this book will resurrect the dreams God has put in your heart. No matter where you are on your spiritual journey, Start Here. --Mark Batterson

Alex and Brett Harris are the coauthors of the best-selling book Do Hard Things, which they wrote when they were eighteen. Today, the twins speak regularly to audiences of thousands on The Rebelution Tour; maintain a large online community through their blog, TheRebelution.com; and have been featured on CNN, MSNBC, NPR, and in the New York Times. Raised in Portland, Oregon, the brothers currently attend Patrick Henry College in Virginia.

I just loved this book, made me ready to attack the day.

If you haven't read Alex and Brett Harris' first book Do Hard Things, you can still read this one, but I would advise reading the other one first. Once you have read it, come back and be truly inspired by all the incredible things that teenagers are doing to make this world a better place. When teens don't buy into the lowered expectations that society has handed them and truly step up and do hard things, they will find that many awesomely incredible things are possible!

What an awesome book! I read this book because I helped with a teen cross country team. In our carpooling conversations the teens were talking about this book and how it was changing their lives. I gave it a try. Not only will it change my parenting with our teens, but it has changed me as an adult. Every adult would benefit from the astounding truths present in this book.

Great book for my young kids. Will help change the basic idea of youth just being a placeholder. Have always felt that way but the authors have finally verbalized in a way that makes sense to the youth.

Young and old would find this book inspirational. We were inspired to go the extra mile and not be afraid of hard things!

good

was a great gift

Couldn't put it down.
