Synopsis

Before there even was modern era medications and its pharmacopoeia of artificial medications, there were medicinal plants. Prehistoric civilizations have widely used them for the strategic treatment of common illnesses as well as life-threatening ailments. More recently, the information about medicinal plants was handed over from one generation to the next. Usually, the homemaker is well-versed in the use of plants for healing and would serve as the family's doctor not only to provide relief for common diseases but also to prepare different plant-based wellness tonics and other herbal remedies.
