Norman Bridwell is the author and illustrator of numerous children's books, including the beloved Clifford series, which has over 126 million copies in print, in 13 languages! He lives in Edgartown, MA with his wife Norma. They have two children, son, Tim, and daughter, Emily Elizabeth.

Clifford books in our house are an absolute naptime and bedtime staple. They consistently have good themes and great teachable lessons. The great thing about Clifford books is the length; it is easy to include these books as part of a routine because they only take about 3-5 minutes to complete so you can read multiple books. The price is right also. Two thumbs up for Clifford the Big Red Dog!!

It was for my great-grandson who has most all of the Clifford Books and he loved it.

My son loves all the Clifford books, and this is a great addition to the collection!

We love these books!

It was a lovely book. My granddaughter loved it.

Trying to explain storms to a two or three year old is like jumping through a mine field: if you do not do it just right it will blow up in your face. This book was very helpful in broaching the subject without scaring my daughter. I would recommend this book. Regardless, if you are a fan of the Clifford series you will like this.

My 2-3/4 yr old grandson loves Clifford and this is his favorite of the books now. I read it to him at least 3-4 times in the past couple visits. He can recite sections by heart. His grandfather was reading it today and misread the word "rescue" as a similar "r" word and my grandson quickly corrected him. He repeats to me that the grandmother is "worried about her house" but Clifford saves the house and it's all "OK".

I bought this book, plus three other Clifford books for my grandchildren to have at "Grandma's house". This book is one of their favorites!
