Jeff Brown created the beloved character of Flat Stanley as a bedtime story for his sons. He has written other outrageous books about the Lambchop family, including Flat Stanley, Stanley and the Magic Lamp, Invisible Stanley, Stanley's Christmas Adventure, Stanley in Space, and Stanley, Flat Again! My son still rereads these books a year later. He read these as a first grader initially and now still reads all of the flat stanley books he can get his hands on. Great for a first time chapter book to get kids into reading as well as to teach geography of the world while having fun doing it.

it was hard to find a series of books that my son would read, he just wasn't that interested until we found Flat Stanley - he loves these stories and has stuck with the series. Although I prefer physical books, he loves getting e-books so that's what we do as a treat!

I got this book for my children, and children absolutely love it. It is not easy to find appropriate, inspiring and good language reading for boys, and this is one of fun readings for them. I totally recommend it for the boys who love adventure books.

my son just started reading Flat Stanley, he is just entering 1st grade. from what i recall the description didnt specify the ages on these book. they are more along the 2nd-3rd grade level. no problem that just means we have to read them with him.

At six, son is fascinated with Ninja's, so he enjoyed me reading this boom to him. Liked the plot.

Great in all areas!

My grandson likes to read it himself and to have grampa read it to him too.

It was an interesting and strange book but it really caught my attention. I usually don't read these books but this is the third book I have read.
