Archipendium 2014 Desk Calendar: 365 Days Full Of Architecture

Synopsis

Archipendium 2014 is an architecture calendar powered by ArchDaily. Its focus is on contemporary architecture worldwide, and its theme is one architecture firm a day. 365 great architectural designs are presented on simple tear-off pages. Designs include those by today's leading architects, like COOP HIMMELB(L)AU, Chaix & Morel, Daniel Libeskind, Graft, J. Mayer H., Peter Kulka, Sasaki Associates and West 8. The daily presentations were selected and edited by the architects themselves. Introduction is by Cino Zucchi. Each day has a photo of the structure on the front, and on the back is a drawing and description of the project.

Customer Reviews

The content is great, but the quality isn't. The paper is flimsy and, although it is a "desk calendar" it sits on the desk like a post-it note stack. It doesn't have any support or framing like traditional desk calendars that you can prop up to see as you sit at your desk. Disappointing for the price. I have had a 'word-a-day,' 'shoe-a-day' and 'jewel-a-day' calendars for my kids that they have loved for half the price. My son likes the architecture, but, again the quality is no better than less-than-average.

Like this calendar, has many images and plans to discover every day. Size is not so helpful, you can just place it on the desk and it looks like post it.

A great recompilation of amazing buildings I didn't know existed! Recommend it to all architecture lovers who want a little surprise every day.

I got this for my son for Christmas and he was so excited! He loves it! Great gift idea. I hope there is a 2015 edition!
